The District of Columbia Office of the Inspector General is Moving

WASHINGTON – Starting March 17, 2023, the Office of the Inspector General (OIG) will begin relocating its office to 100 M Street, SE, Washington DC 20003. The OIG's new office is conveniently located near the Navy Yard-Ballpark Metro Station (Green Line) and major Metro bus routes. During this transition, OIG staff will be teleworking, and District residents can still access OIG services by telephone, email, and online. Please check back for updates on when the OIG's new office space will be open to the public.

How to Contact the OIG:

- Website: <http://oig.dc.gov>
- Email: oig@dc.gov
- Phone: 202-727-2540

Mail and Subpoena Returns: Effective March 17, 2023, please address all mail to:
Office of the Inspector General
100 M Street, SE, Suite 1000
Washington, D.C. 20003

Reporting Fraud, Waste, Abuse, and Mismanagement: Individuals may submit a complaint using the OIG's web-based complaint form, calling the OIG's Hotline at 202-724-TIPS (8477) or 800-521-1639, emailing the OIG's hotline at hotline.inspectorgeneral@dc.gov, or TTY 711. In-person complaints will need to be pre-arranged by first contacting the OIG's Hotline.

Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Information: A FOIA request may be submitted online via the DC government Public FOIA Portal. FOIA Requests may also be submitted by mail, fax or email. However, please note that FOIA requests submitted online will be easier to track and process. The OIG's FOIA Officer may be reached at:
